Morrison, seemed anxious to get away from Court and go to Fairfax, stating that he owned property adjacent to Bill Smith's home, indicating to Mr. Crowe that he, Morrison, had heard or knew the details of the explosion. Crowe stated that Morrison's line of talk was evidently made to leave a false impression on him, Crowe.

Morrison stated to Agent Burger 8-7-1923, that Edith Fox told him, Morrison, "that I know all about the Smith blow-up; that Ace Kirby (now deceased) set off the fire; that Hale framed it", Morrison replying to Fox, and referring to Hale, said "I know all about it. I have saved his D-- neck until now." (Morrison had reference to the Smith blow-up.)

Frank Lays stated to [redacted] that one "Slate" Welch told him soon after the Smith blow-up, that Kelsie Morrison obtained the nitroglycerine at Red Rock, Okla., which was used to blow up the Bill Smith home, and to prove an alibi, Morrison sent a man to Oklahoma City and had him register at a hotel as Kelsie Morrison, on the night of the explosion which blew up the Bill Smith home.

Special Agent John R. Burger and former Agent Tom Weiss are familiar with details of interviews with Morrison.

ERNEST BURKHART,
Fairfax, Okla.

Conspirator.

On May 24, 1924, Blackie Thompson stated to Special Agent Burger and former Agent Weiss that during the Summer of 1920 Ernest Burkhart proposed to him and Curley Johnson that they rob and kill Bill Smith and family, and he (Ernest) would pay them $1,000 and give them a Buick car for doing the job; that he, Ernest, owned the Buick and he would get the $1,000 from his uncle Bill Hale, and suggested that Blackie see Bill Hale as Hale wanted to see him. That Ernest told them the reason he wanted Bill Smith and family killed was that Smith's wife and his, Ernest's, wife were sisters; that their mother was liable to die at any time account of old age; that if the mother died first, Smith's wife would inherit part of her wealth; that if Smith's wife died first, the mother's wealth would be inherited by his, Ernest's, wife, and for that reason he wanted Smith and wife killed before the mother died. Ernest then turned over to us his Buick car, stating that it was insured for more than it was worth and the insurance only a few days more to run. I, Blackie, told Ernest I would take the car, drive it out of the country and dispose of it and he reported it stolen and collect the insurance; Burkhart agreed to this plan. Blackie, Johnson, Ernest and Curley Johnson were the only persons who

Ernest Burkhardt sent word to "stand pat", which Blackie did, and was sent to McAlester where he served fifteen months and was paroled in March, 1922, with no help from Ernest Burkhardt. That after being paroled he, Blackie, went back to Osage County and saw and talked with Ernest Burkhardt and Bill Hale. Ernest again renewed his proposals that they kill Bill Smith and wife; that on one occasion Ernest said that the Smiths had moved to Fairfax, and went on to state that they (Thompson and Gurley Johnson) should trail Smith around, so as to be sure when SMITH and wife were in the house, then put a shot of nitro-glycerine in the basement and blow them up. Blackie stated that he kept putting Ernest off, but pulled several "deals" with him. One "deal" was the robbing of Fred Deloya and his wife of their diamonds, which Ernest Burkhardt proposed, saying that Hale would buy the diamonds; That they offered the diamonds to Hale, but did not trade because Hale was "too much of a Jew."

Thompson also stated that finally Ernest Burkhardt came to him and stated that he had fixed up the Smith "deal", and that Gurley Johnson, Jim, Boswell (or Bothwell) and Charlie were going to go to the Alleged can testify that in 1919 he and one Walter Doolen, of near Pawnee and Yale, Okla., were at Bill Hale's ranch house; that Bill Hale at that time suggested to them that they hijack Bill Smith and his wife out of their diamonds, Hale explaining that Smith always had a roll of $300.00 or $400.00 on him, and that Hawkins and Doolen should catch Smith unawares "between the house and the barn", and stating farther that they could do something with Smith and his wife after robbing them; that Hale at that same time told them of some widow who lived with her daughter on a farm in Osage county, telling them that this widow was afraid of banks and kept about $7000.00 hidden at the house; that Hale stated he had been intimate with this widow and had borrowed money from her, but had fallen out with her because of the daughter; that the widow had then employed a negro man, a mean one, to stay with her on the farm; that he, Hale, suspected this negro was intimate with these women and suggested that Hawkins and Walter Doolen rob this widow and "kill the nigger"; Hawkins can also testify that Arthur (Curley) Johnson (now deceased) told Hawkins that he knows who killed the Bill Smith family. (Hawkins added that he was convinced that Curley Johnson was in on the job).

Hawkins stated that his reason for suggesting that Hale should rob Bill Smith is that

This witness made statement to Agent Burger and Special Ass't to the Atty General Edwin Brown, on July 6, 1926, in which he stated that a man known as "Little John", of Webb City, Okla., who is about 50 years old, 5 feet and 7 inches tall, of dark complexion, paid Ace Kirby (now deceased) and Dock Hawkins $1000.00 to blow up Bill Smith's home; that they got the "soup" from a magazine just out of Webb City on the Apperson road. Mayo said Ace Kirby and Hawkins left Webb City about 9:30 P. M. the night of the blow-up, in Kirby's Ford car, with an oil can of "soup", 9 or 10 quarts wrapped in a quilt, and returned to Webb City about 3 A. M.; that Little John (who has been identified as Steve Little of Fairfax, Okla.) met Hawkins and Kirby at his (Mayo's) home on the day following the blow-up of Smith's home, and Hawkins said "We done a good job; blowed Bill Smith's packer off"; that he (Mayo) saw Ace Kirby pay Hawkins $500.00 and told Hawkins that Bill Smith was in the hospital, and if Smith died, they (Kirby and Hawkins) would get some more money.

Gregg further stated that he did not see Bill Hale again until January 1923, at which time he, his father, John Gregg, and Lee Claning met Hale on Hale's ranch near the place of their previous meeting; that Hale then told them that the same offer of $5000. for the job stood good and he still wanted Bill Smith's house blown up and he did not care how it was accomplished, just so it was done, and asked that they wait until the following night, as he, Hale, wanted to be at Wichita Kansas in order that he could have an alibi when the house was blown up, and that Hale would get the "soup" with the job that after he, Dick Gregg, had finished the job

This witness was an Enforcement Officer at Fairfax at the time Bill Smith's home was blown up. Tulk arrested four men - Curley Johnson, Curley's brother, one Bothwell, and another man - during March, 1923, on a whiskey charge. (Curley Johnson is said to have participated in the blow-up of Smith's home). At the time these men were arrested, Henry Grammer, now deceased, is alleged to have stated to Del Plane, then chief of police of Ponce City, that they had the right ones in jail and they all should hang, meaning they were the ones who committed the Indian murders around Fairfax.

Tulk may have detailed information of value in this investigation.

Alleged that Sam Tulk stated that Ed Fincher told him that Kelsie Morrison, in company with Amos Tucker and Bill Rivard, left Fairfax about noon on March 9, 1923, in an automobile, going to Oklahoma City. That Fincher saw and talked with Morrison late the night of March 9, 1923, Morrison having stated he just came in from Oklahoma City.
